NEW POOL

The 2018 Summer Youth Olympics were the first ones held outside of Asia and the second Olympic Games held in South America after Rio 2016. Buenos Aires hosted this international sports event in October 2018 where almost 4,000 athletes aged 15 to 18 from 206 countries competed in 32 different sports.

The swimming and diving competitions took place in two new swimming pools: a 50 m competition pool and a diving pool. Both were built using stainless steel Myrtha panels in order to accelerate construction time. Those panels, which are accessible at all times are afterwards on-site lined with a RENOLIT ALKORPLAN reinforced membrane in order to guarantee complete watertightness.

The 50 m long pool features a movable bulkhead allowing separate areas inside the pool so that different activities can take place simultaneously. The 5 m deep diving pool features several boards at different heights and is equipped with a Myrtha's special safety system that produces a mixture of water and air in order to reduce the impact the diver suffers when entering the water surface.

NEW POOL

A $100 million world-class aquatic and health facility that provides something for everyone. This short but comprehensive explanation is indeed very descriptive. Located in Marion, 10 km from Adelaide, the facilities feature a gym, group fitness studios, a physiotherapy service and an impressive range of top-of-the-line aquatic facilities including a 50 m competition pool, a 25 m water polo pool, a dive pool with several diving boards ranging from 1 m to 10 m height, a 25 m program pool, a 15 m learners pool, a leisure pool and two outdoor waterslides. So it is no surprise that this aquatic center featuring six indoor pools is the main competition and training venue for swimming, diving and water polo in South Australia.

All six indoor pools were built using the high-tech modular Myrtha system: a quick and easy to maintain way of building pools, which also has a significantly lower carbon footprint in comparison with traditional concrete tiled pools. Both the 10-lane-competition pool and the diving pool feature underwater viewing windows and a movable bulkhead, which turns the 10 lanes into 20 when in 25 m mode.

Featuring almost 6,000 athletes from 50 countries competing in 30 different sports, the 2015 European Games, also known as Baku 2015, were held in the capital of Azerbaijan in June 2015. It was the very first edition of this continental multi-sport event, which holds every four years among athletes from all over Europe. The European Games is the biggest event that this country from the Caucasus has organised so far.

The Spanish architect Joaquim Pujol was in charge of designing the Baku Aquatics Centre. Specifically built for the European Games, this top-of-the-line facility hosted the aquatic competition. Three permanent pools were installed to host swimming, diving and synchronized swimming competitions. Additionally, two temporary pools were installed in the Water Polo Arena, a temporary structure located nearby.

The three permanent pools of the Baku Aquatics Centre consist of a 50m-competition pool, a 50m warm-up pool and a diving pool, all of them built using Myrtha technology. The diving pool was equipped with a special safety system in order to reduce the impact the diver suffers when entering the water without a splash.

Located in the city of St Julians, the project covers an area of 7,300 sqm. Because of the sea water and the exposure to the sun, the architects had to specify a highly resistant optimum quality tailor-made liner without compromising on aesthetics since the laguna is a central feature of the whole Portomaso mixed-use development. 6.000 sqm of reinforced membrane were needed in order to line this salt water lagoon.

RENOVATION

This residential skyscraper is situated in the neighbourhood of San Francisco. The approximately 170-sqm apartments have a privileged location and a fantastic swimming pool on the rooftop, which is slightly higher than the ground.

This pool was recently refurbished because it had several problems: there were cracks on the tiled basin and pipes and water leaks to lower floors that even reached the car park. The skimmers needed to be repositioned because the hydraulic design was not correct according to the wind direction. Apart from this, there were not enough inlets.

The neighbourhood board looked for a watertight solution that would not compromise aesthetics. That is why they chose RENOLIT ALKORPLAN3000 Persia Blue since it looks like a tiled pool and requires little maintenance. It took 5 days to install 165 sqm of reinforced membrane and carry out the improvements.

Among several refurbishment works, the pool basin recovered its original 50 m length, 1,500 sqm of reinforced pool membrane were needed for the resurfacing and both diving platform and band shell were rebuilt.

Taking into account the landslide location, the architects of Architekturbüro Akkurat Bauatelier had to think about an ingenious solution. They installed an adjustable gutter watergate, so that water would uniformly drain in spite of the inclined location of the pool. The RENOLIT ALKORPLAN XTREME Silver reinforced membrane makes the water shine brighter. RENOVATION

YMCA's are committed to improving health and well-being throughout the USA by promoting healthy habits. Swimming plays a major role within this purpose because not only is it a life skill but also a great exercise and a challenging sport whose benefits are greater than just physical health.

This renovated center is like none other in Nebraska and is on top of that, the largest YMCA facility worldwide. It consists of an Olympic-size pool equipped with up to 12 lanes, a diving well with various depth levels, a hot tub, a sauna, a splash pad and new locker rooms. Since the water height is the same height as the gutters, there is no splash back to impede swimmers. A UV lighting filtration system was also installed as well as hot jets to make aqua aerobics and swimming classes more comfortable. YMCAs offer swim lessons for all ages and also for kids with special needs, family, and competitive swimming and diving teams.

Rely on it.
